NEW YORK, June 12.—A conference between Hughes and Wickersham lasting half an hour, was held this morning. Nothing is leaking out of the discussion which led to many rumors of plans to gain Roosevelt support. The conference was not political, declared Wickersham. Hughes also was silent. Wickersham said Roosevelt is head of the third party and thinks the Progressive support for Hughes is assured.

The letter of acceptance filed by the candidate is meeting with universal approval owing to the manly ring of its sentiment and the clean cut declaration for maintenance of national honor at all hazard.

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, June 12.—Robins and Ikes, committeemen, announced today they would leave tomorrow for Oyster Bay to confer on the situation with Roosevelt. Ikes said the committee was "all at sea."

Bryan to Urge Prohibition Plank in the Platform

(By Associated Press.)
ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Preliminary arrangements for the Democratic convention were completed at a meeting of the national committee which formally selected Glynn for temporary chairman to deliver the keynote speech, chose temporary officers and disposed of contests.

The retirement of McCombs caused a demonstration in the committee which gave cheers and a vote of thanks. Homer Cummings of Connecticut probably McCombs' successor, said he would serve if called.

Mrs. Florence Updegraff of New York, believes the "Golden Lane" in which several thousand women dressed in white will form both sides of the street through which the delegates pass to the convention will be an effective argument and a silent plea for suffrage.

Convention managers are hearing from the delegates that a four day session is too long for the convention knowing what it is proposed to do.

Bryan is expected to appear before the resolutions committee to urge peace and prohibition planks. Friends say he will support Wilson.

BUSINESS FLOURISHING IN SOUTHERN END OF NYE, SAYS A CARRARA MAN

"In southern Nye, from the business

view point, we have no complaints to make. As usual, Carrara is the center of activity. The Bull Moose company now has somewhat over twenty men on the payroll. Erection of mine buildings was finished some two months ago, since when the leasers have centered their energies on development work within the mine. Although no reports are given out for publication, it is assumed, in the south that, so far, developments have proven satisfactory. This is the way conditions are summed up A. B. Perkins, editor of the Carrara Obelisk.

The slight flurry given to the old mining district of Flourine, in which the Diamond Queen is located, by the interest taken in the locality by Tonopah interests, has subsided, it being understood that developments have not yet progressed to an extent war-

FACTORY AT SEARLES LAKE TO BEGIN OPERATIONS BY END OF THE YEAR

C.

Mr. Barndt, who represents John Hays Hammond and other prominent financiers, has been for months endeavoring to arrange the operation of a plant at Searles lake under the terms of the mineral land leasing bill.

"Pending the settlement of the Searles lake title litigation the Pacific Coast Borax company, allied with other powerful chemical interests, have worked out a process for the extraction of potash, borax and soda from the Searles lake brines that from every standpoint is a complete success," said Mr. Barndt.

Blondie LeBlanc Killed By Laura Randall, Who Fired 5 Bullets Into His Body

"Blondie" Le Blanc, whose given name is unknown, was shot to death at 9 o'clock last night by Laura Randall at the Phoenix rooming house, on Arizona street. According to all reports, Le Blanc was forcing his way into the woman's room when she emptied the gun, all bullets taking effect. Le Blanc then staggered down the street a short distance, wheeled and fell upon his face, dead.

Shortly before 9 p. m. Le Blanc appeared at the door of the Randall woman, where he knocked and entered. Then, he seized the woman and knocked her head against the door jamb. Throwing her aside Le Blanc rushed outside, yelling, "I'm going to kill you." The woman managed to close and bolt the door. Le Blanc returned and picking up a huge boulder, yelled, "Open the door, I'm going to kill you." Laura Randall, in terror ran to her bureau drawer, took out an automatic revolver and stationed herself immediately behind the door, in anticipation of an attack.

Seeing that she did not comply with his command, Le Blanc threw his weight against the door breaking the wood casing which held the lock. At that very instant, the automatic was pulled as rapidly as the trigger would act and five shots found their way in the intruder's body.

The first shot struck on the right side of the nose, glanced upward and entered the brain. Two others worked their way into the body under the left arm, one lodged in his left arm and the fifth one pierced his left side.

The first shot staggered Le Blanc, who turned to leave. Four more bullets struck him and a trifle over fifteen feet from the doorway as he walked he uttered a low moan and fell lifeless on his face.

The couple had been living together for several years. About fifteen months ago, Le Blanc slashed his slayer's throat. In the Justice court he was sentenced to ninety days, although the Randall woman swore that she had used the knife in a suicidal attempt and the case was appealed.

The deceased was about 37 years old, and was a native of Colorado, born and reared in Denver. One of the first positions which he held was a paper route for the Denver Rocky Mountain News. He was one of the most reliable carriers. In 1894 the
